

Covéa Insurance joins Select & Protect's panel of leading UK insurers

General insurance provider, Select & Protect, today announces that Covéa Insurance has joined its modular home insurance panel.

Covéa Insurance has approximately 1.3 million policyholders in the UK. With an excellent reputation for service and an 'A+ Stable' rating from Standard and Poor's, Covéa Insurance is one of the most trusted and well-respected insurers in the UK.

Select & Protect Commercial Director, Bruce Reid, comments: "The days of one-size-fits all home insurance are fast disappearing. Our intelligent platform allows brokers to build personalised policies to suit each individual client's specific needs and the addition of Covéa Insurance to our panel adds even more strength to an already impressive insurer line-up. It will expand the footprint of our already excellent risk capability and will deliver greater flexibility and pricing to brokers. As a result we expect to see an increase on returned quotes and sales."

The Select & Protect modular home insurance panel now has some of the UK's leading insurers: Aviva, Covéa Insurance and RSA.

Sue Coffey, Director of Intermediated Distribution, Personal Lines, Covéa Insurance adds: "Select & Protect has a strong reputation amongst UK mortgage and financial intermediaries, a sector of the market where we see great potential. We're delighted to join its modular home insurance panel."

Select & Protect policies enables intermediaries to help their clients choose what they cover and how much they pay while its intelligent platform does all the comparing to ensure that they get the most competitive quote.
